

The Little Scroll

You need

scissors, coloured pencils,
string or wool

The idea

Small paper scrolls. Each child writes one verse or promise on theirs, rolls it up, and takes it home in a pocket rather than a bag — the point being to keep it close.

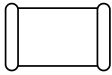

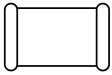

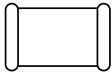

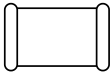

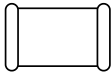

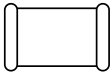

My verse or promise:

My verse or promise:

My verse or promise:

My verse or promise:

✂ cut along the dashed lines

 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10	 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10
 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10	 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10
 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10	 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10
 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10	 "I took the little scroll and ate it. It tasted as sweet as honey." Revelation 10:10

✂ cut along the dashed lines

Today at church: The Little Scroll (Revelation 10)

Ask at home:

1. What is the difference between knowing something and taking it in?
2. Can good news ever be hard to carry? When?
3. Why do you think God tells us the ending before he tells us the middle?

Prayer: God, thank you that your words are sweet. Help us not just to know them but to take them in, until they change how we live. And when carrying them is hard, help us to remember how it ends. Amen.