

The Harlot and the Bride

You need

coloured pencils

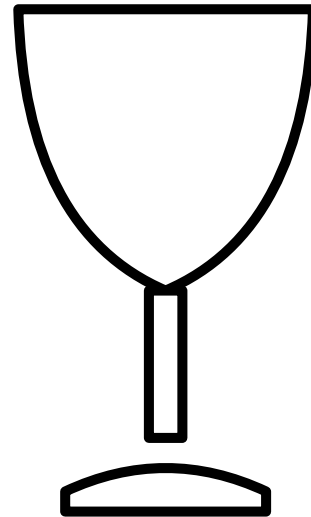

The idea

Two cups drawn side by side — one gold on the outside, one plain. Children write inside each what it actually holds.

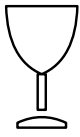

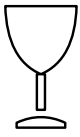

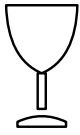

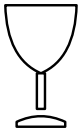

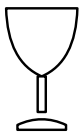

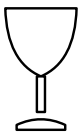

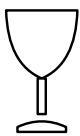

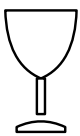

gold on the outside

What it really holds:

plain

What it really holds:

 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9	 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9
 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9	 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9
 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9	 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9
 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9	 "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding supper of the Lamb." Revelation 19:9

✂ cut along the dashed lines

Today at church: The Harlot and the Bride (Revelation 17–19)

Ask at home:

1. How can something look beautiful and be cruel?
2. Why do you think the kings only cried about their business?
3. What is the difference between being wanted for what you can do and being wanted for who

Prayer: Jesus, thank you that you want us for ourselves and not for what we can give you. Help us to see through things that look beautiful and are cruel underneath. And thank you that you are preparing a celebration. Amen.